Firepots and Fuel Gel Are Dangerous

Firepots pictured above are a sample of many different styles currently being sold on the market.

Ceramic firepots and fuel gel are extremely dangerous and pose grave burn risks. There are reports that these products have caused severe, life threatening physical injuries and burns. Firepots and fuel gel do not function like traditional citronella candles. Consumers are advised to not purchase and immediately stop using firepots and fuel gel. The Consumer Product Safety Commission is investigating.

What should I do if I see firepots and fuel gel?

1. If you are a store owner or operator, remove all firepots and fuel gel from shelves.
2. If you own firepots and fuel gel, stop using them immediately.
3. If you see firepots and fuel gel in a store, tell the operator that these are dangerous products that are under investigation.
4. Call the Illinois Attorney General's Product Recall Hotline with questions or concerns at 1-888-414-7678; TTY: 1-800-964-3013; En Espanol: 1-866-310-8398.
